

The Trinity -Icon by Andrei Rublev

The Trinity -Icon by Andrei Rublev

During the month of June, I have written about the encounter that Abram and Sarai had with the 3 visitors who came with a promise and a blessing.

There are many renditions of this icon but I like this particular one. There are many symbols in the icon about the Trinity and the influence in creation, our life and the church.

But the item that grabs my attention is the cup(chalice) on the table. If you notice the hands of the 3 figures, they are pointing towards it. One of the many interpretations is that Trinity is contemplating the viewer. What does it mean for the Creator, Redeemer and Sanctifier to contemplate you and me? My guess is this is an ongoing process-what a gift!!!

Contemplating us and with us in the mundane, the everyday, every season, night and day a promise and a blessing.